

EXPERT FITNESS SOURCE & STORY IDEAS

Lisa Druxman, M.A. is a nationally recognized speaker and author and is considered an expert in the field of fitness, particularly pre and postnatal fitness.

Druxman earned her Master's degree at San Diego State University in psychology with an emphasis in exercise adherence and weight control. She created the weight management program, L.E.A.N. Mommy® (Learn Eating Awareness and Nutrition) and is currently authorizing a book on the subject.

A noted authority on prenatal and post natal fitness, Druxman has been a presenter at I.D.E.A. (national and world conferences), and is certified as an instructor, personal trainer, and provider of Continuing Education through the American Council on Exercise (ACE).

Druxman is also a well-published author, winning an APEX journalism award for a recent article published in a fitness trade journal. Druxman has been received numerous business awards by organizations such as the National Association of Women Business Owners for her unique and successful business.

A regular contributor to several San Diego area TV news stations, as well as Fitness Editor to e-Pregnancy magazine, Druxman has been featured on NBC's Today Show and profiled in magazines such as Woman's Day, Good Housekeeping, Self and more.

Animated and articulate on camera and entirely quotable in print, Druxman can be used as a source on a variety of topics, including:
